

Vulcan “Try Before You Buy”

I, the Representative listed below agree to take part in the “Try Before You Buy” Testing of a Vulcan, Combi Oven, Convection Oven, Heated Holding or Steam Cooking Product stated below.

The test period will be for 30 days starting from date of installation and start-up by Vulcan Cooking Products. At the end of the test period we will purchase the equipment or request that it be removed.

I agree to keep confidential all patent, trade secrets and other proprietary rights including the operational details of the appliance(s) until the end of the test period as stated below.

I agree to the disconnection of the existing appliance(s) in my establishment (if required).
Existing appliance(s) – options:

- I will be responsible for the storage of the existing appliances(s).
- The existing appliance(s) will be removed from the establishment and stored by Vulcan or designated agent.
- There is no existing appliance(s) at the establishment that needs handling.

The installation of Field Test appliance(s) will be performed by Vulcan Cooking Products or its designated agent. All utilities will need to in place for final connection by owner. The unit will be installed according to the Installation and Operation Manual and Started Up. Exception will be Heated Holding Products which do not require any installation or set up.

The Vulcan Representative will perform an In-service Demonstration to the kitchen employees.

I understand and agree to allow entry to the kitchen area during normal and convenient times for monitoring and testing of the appliance(s) by Vulcan or its designated agent.

If in the event that the appliance(s) needs service, Vulcan or its designated agent will service the unit in a timely manner. The order of contact will be Quality Engineer, Product Engineer or Product Manager (see below).
